Update as of January 4, 2021, 2 p.m.

Sheriff Lawhorne wants the community to know that 14 states had the courage to place corrections staff in category 1A. "I commend these states for recognizing the seriousness of this situation and the critical role staff play in maintaining the well being of those incarcerated. Unfortunately, Virginia doesn't feel the same way." Today the Sheriff continued to press those in leadership roles to do something since the Governor's team has gone silent.

Which vaccination phase each state assigned to incarcerated people and corrections staff

	Incarcerated People	Corrections Staff
Specifically listed in Phase 1 (or a Phase 1 subdivision)	7 states: Conn., Del., Mass., Md., Neb., N.M., Pa.	14 states: Ark., Conn., Del., La., Maine, Mass., Md., Mo., Neb., Nev., N.M., N.C., Pa., W.Va.
Not specifically listed, but from the context might belong to Phase 1	No states	12 states: Ala., Ariz., Calif., Idaho, Ill., Iowa, Kan., Mont., N.J., N.D., S.C., Va.
Specifically listed in Phase 1 or Phase 2, depending on age and comorbidities	1 state: N.C.	No states
Plan was unclear, but from the context likely belong to Phase 1 or Phase 2	2 states: Calif., Ky.	2 states: Ky., Wyo.
Specifically listed in Phase 2	19 states: Ala., Ariz., Ga., Idaho, Ill., Ind., Iowa, La., Maine, Miss., N.H., N.D., Ohio, Okla., R.I., Tenn., Utah, Vt., Wash.	12 states: Colo., Ga., Ind., Miss., N.H., Ohio, Okla., R.I., Tenn., Utah, Vt., Wash.
Not specifically listed, but from the context might belong to Phase 2	4 states: N.J., Va., W.Va., Wyo.	No states
Not specifically listed, but might belong to Phase 3 (Note: Phase 3 also includes all general populations)	1 state: Mo.	No states
Difficult to categorize (because the state did not follow the CDC's 3 Phases)	4 states: Hawaii, Mont., Nev., N.Y.	2 states: Hawaii, N.Y.
Not included in any Phase (neither specifically nor implied through additional context)	11 states: Alaska, Ark., Colo., Fla., Kan., Mich., Ore., S.C., S.D., Texas, Wisc.	7 states: Alaska, Fla., Mich., Ore., S.D., Texas, Wisc.

We examined 49 state vaccine distribution proposals to see how the states directly or indirectly mentioned incarcerated people and corrections staff. For some states, the answer was obvious. Other states were not specific, but used references and terms that we concluded "probably" or "might" have been meant to include incarcerated people or staff. Of course, if our value judgements are incorrect for some of these states, that would mean that the states are not planning to prioritize incarcerated people or staff at all. Readers should use caution in comparing the different phase numbers between states for two reasons: Not all states used the federal government's suggested three phases, and whether a later phase implies a longer wait for a vaccine is dependent upon how many people are in the earlier phases. The most important decision is whether incarcerated people and staff are mentioned at all. For the details from each state and a link to the original plan, see the appendix.

Update as of January 4, 2021, 11:45 a.m.

All inmates continue to be asymptomatic.

Update as of January 2, 2021, 1 p.m.

Sheriff Dana Lawhorne and his executive team continue to monitor the covid situation at the Alexandria Adult Detention Center. He has conducted daily meetings with his staff, medical team, and the Alexandria Health Department in order to evaluate the health and well-being of the inmates and our staff. These meetings are continuous throughout each day including every holiday. Twice a day, the on-duty medical staff visit each inmate who has tested positive, and they all continue to be asymptomatic. Inmates are quarantined but are still allowed to maintain a break schedule. The break schedule is hindered by staffing levels.

Sheriff Lawhorne wants to express his frustration with Governor Northam's refusal to intervene and include jail staff in category 1A of the vaccine distribution list. Sheriff Lawhorne had requested that jail staff be included on the highest priority category because they work in a congregate setting and provide care to inmates 24 hours a day. They are the key to the mental and social well-being of our inmates. They are the ones who keep the housing units open so the inmates can have some sense of liberty and self-worth. Sheriff Lawhorne explains, "We need the vaccination now so we can do our jobs to maintain the safety and well-being of inmates entrusted to our care. The Commonwealth of Virginia has distributed over 388,000 doses so far. I only want 130."

Sheriff Lawhorne wants his community to know that he is also concerned about a vaccination for inmates and has not received any answers on that either. He feels his only immediate chance for any progress is to make the case for his staff who are caring for the inmates.

The Alexandria Health Department will retest each inmate next week.

Sheriff Lawhorne would like to take this opportunity to praise the Alexandria Health Department for the 24/7 assistance they have provided to the Sheriff's Office since March 2020. According to Sheriff Lawhorne, "Like our own employees, the Health Department team has and continues to always go above and beyond the call of duty!"

On December 18, staff at the Alexandria Sheriff's Office received reports from two inmates in the same housing unit that they had covid-like symptoms. They were immediately seen by medical staff, monitored, and after testing, were found to be positive for COVID-19. They, along with 57 other inmates in the same housing unit, were placed on strict quarantine. The entire detention center was placed on restricted movement and the Sheriff ordered that all inmates be tested.

Per advice from the Alexandria Health Department, the testing was scheduled for December 29. This time frame was based on established CDC guidelines.

On December 29, in cooperation with the Alexandria Health Department, the Sheriff's Office tested 278 inmates for covid. On December 31, the Sheriff's Office received the results of those tests, and 78 inmates tested positive with 80% of those positive cases coming from the same housing unit. The other cases are contained in two other units. There has been no additional spread.

Our medical team has been and continues to monitor each infected inmate throughout the day. As of today, all infected inmates are asymptomatic. The medical team has also been monitoring the health of all the inmates throughout the facility.

All ASO staff were also tested and the results are pending. COVID-19 has had a detrimental effect on the staffing at the Adult Detention Center and has impeded operations. This limits staff's ability to give inmates reasonable amounts of time out of their cells.

Sheriff Dana Lawhorne and Sheriff Stacey Kincaid of Fairfax County continue to press the Governor to release approximately 400 vaccine doses to their agencies so that jail staff who care for inmates can be protected. On December 29, the Governor refused their request. As of 4 and continuing all month, the City will be collecting Christmas Trees from the curbside. Please remove the tree stand and set trees at the curb.

Also ensure no tinsel and do NOT bag the trees.
